EAGLE FLIES TO THE RESCUE

Executives received a frantic call from a client that had two trailers of inventory to unload to their warehouse and as luck would have it, a broken freight elevator. The trucking company was on a tight time schedule and was contemplating leaving due to the time delays. This shipment was critical for the client as it contained merchandise for a huge national sales event at their 75 retail locations. After surveying the situation, a series of ramps were constructed and a Hi-Lo was strategically placed to replace the broken freight.
